Upon entering the portal of our noteworthy alma mater, a visitor finds himself directly beside the official residence of Mr. George A. Hartman, superintendent of our city schools. While the visitor is taking a hurried inventory of the various filing cabinets and business machinery occupying his outer office, he will, no doubt, hear the persistent clicking of a typewriter and, after further investigation, find Miss Mary Ellen Rader, an indefatigable secretary, busily working on a final report. Mr. Hartman's office is the center of the Circleville school system which includes the main building, grades 8-12, Corwin, Atwater, Franklin, High Street, and Walnut elementary schools. Mr. Walter Denman, a "well-known" figure around school is the attendance officer. The superintendent's office serves as his headquarters also. To the Circleville High students, Mr. Hartman is not a formidable figure but an amicable friend and adviser. They feel he works beyond the call of duty many times for the welfare of his students.

Now to continue the leisurely trip through the Circleville High halls. Mr. Cress' office is the next in line and here are Mary Cassidy, a senior, and Sally Curry, a junior, assisting Mr. Cress in his clerical duties. As the clerk of the Board of Education, Mr. Cress performs many duties as varied as financial and business reports to aiding prom committees in decorating.

After leaving the preceding office the visitor ascends a staircase and finds himself on the third floor. If he continues down the hall, he will pass the office of Mr. Henry, our high school principal. Rita Edgington and Jo Ann Merriman, both juniors, rush past, on their way to deliver absence slips. Inside, Mary Ann McClure and Sandra Valentine, senior class members, busily prepare exams and last minute graduation schedules. During the year, an office girls' duties consist of everything from handing out bandaids and merthiolate. Besides fulfilling his many office duties, Mr. Henry acts as a cordial consultant for the high school students and their problems.

Just around the corner is the school library which contains a large number of educational and instructive volumes. Miss Gretchen Moller supervises there and has five students as aides. Assisting this year are Weta Mae Leist, Patsy Neff, Beverly Thornton, Jane Wallace, all seniors, and Sandy McAlister, a junior. Their work is varied but it consists mainly of cataloging and book preparation. Through the use of the library, students can further their education in higher fields.

And so ends the tour of the offices of Circleville's school system and particularly of the high school.

Janitors

JANITORS

Mr. Tracy, Mr. Lutz, Mr. Davis, Mr. Stout, Mr. Jones.

In any school, the custodian is far more important in its operation than appears on the surface. Many times their ability to keep machinery going under adverse conditions, saves closing school for a day or more. The proper use of disinfectants prevents the spread of disease and keeps it from becoming an epidemic. The knowledge of the building and location of everything in the various rooms becomes very valuable to the school principal. The custodian is called on constantly by pupils and teachers for many duties beyond their scope of work.

We are fortunate in having in our high school building five very courteous and understanding custodians. They are always willing to help out at any time or any place in the building. Some have been here many years while some have been here just the last one or two years.

Corwin Street Building is under the care of Mr. D. L. Tracy; the high school addition, Mr. Frank Davis; the high school Mr. Freeman Lutz; the industrial arts building Mr. Roy Stout, who is also the engineer for both the industrial arts building and the physical education building. Mr. Robert Jones is in charge of the physical education building.

Our thanks go to these five gentlemen for their patience and understanding.

Cooks

CAFETERIA COOKS

Mrs. Starkey, Mrs. Crites, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Harrington, Mrs. Overly.

Located in what was formerly the high school social rooms, the school cafeteria is enjoying its third consecutive year of operation. Under the management of Mrs. Garold Crites it has become one of the outstanding features of the school system. By starting the lower grade children through the lines at 11:15 all of Corwin building is served by 12:00. Starting at 12:00, the high school is served by 12:45.

During the month of January approximately 14,000 lunches were served. The lunches enables the school to function in a smoother fashion and to dismiss at 3:00 p. m.

The school lunch program also enables the children to obtain a balanced diet. Then, too, there are many children who are learning to eat foods which they did not previously like.

Board of Education

In order to secure some informative views concerning the Board of Education, representatives of the annual staffs contacted Mr. George A. Hartman, superintendent of the city schools. His contribution was so complete that the staff decided to quote him directly in describing the Board of Education.

"What school could long endure and what dark rebuke the tide if at the helm there is no guiding hand? Directing the destiny of the Circle City Schools there is a school board who has kept the future of our school in mind. Tradition should be preserved but the future should not be hindered that advancement might be made. Under their guiding hands, we have achieved great progress and have great things to look forward to in the future.

"Co-operation is the word that applies so well to this present Board of Education. The height of co-operative achievement came when they decided to meet Circleville's pressing school building needs. This Board, with full approval of the people, has guaranteed good schools in Circleville for years to come. Problems can be solved with willing workers."

The Red And The Black

And the gentle sons of Harvard to the crimson rose are true,
We will own the lilies slender nor honor shall they lack,
While the Tigers stand defender of the Red and the Black.
Through the four long years of high school midst the scenes we know so well,
And the mystic charm of knowledge we vainly seek do spell,
Or we win Athletic victories on the football field or track,
Still we work for dear old Everts and the Red and the Black.
When the cares of life o'er take us, mingling fast our locks with gray,
Should our dearest hopes betray us, false fortunes fall away,
Still we vanish care and sadness, as we turn our memories back,

"A Day With The Seniors"

by Sam the Tiger

As the class bell rasped its final warning I slipped quietly through the main portal of my familiar den. Yes, I couldn't miss any classes today, for this was the last time I would see my friends from the class of '55. I dried a salty tear as I recalled the many social, athletic, and academic events I had attended with them. Beginning in the Freshman year and right through the Baccalaureate services we had good times together.

My sentiments were about to bubble over when I was suddenly shoved against the stair railing as George Seimer raced past me, heading for 204. I regained my footing and continued to ascend again; but as they always say, "Bad things (or is it good things) always come in pairs." This time my tail received the punishment as Jerry Cassill nearly smashed it in a futile attempt to beat the tardy bell.

First class had taken up already but Liz Musser and Kay Graef were still contemplating exchanging green peas for a meat sandwich at cafeteria. Personally, I'll take a ham bone any day. Leaving them in their confusion, I overheard Weta Mae Liest and Bev Thornton discussing the merits of the Dewey decimal system in regard to Walt Disney comics. Annette Glass, an avid fan, chimed in and added that she would donate her comic book collection; but Weta declined saying that the situation did not call for gifts.

What's this heading down the hall? As I adjusted my contact lenses, I saw Bev Elsea doing a majorette strut with "Red" Buskirk and Marge Magill following close behind. Just as they passed 205, Sandra Valentine and Mary Ann McClure came racing out of the office on a secret mission to Miss Walter's room, probably to inform Barb Brown that she had won the essay contest. Just as we all met in a jumble there was a loud explosion from the chemistry lab. I was first to arrive at the scene and found Gail Dunlap and Lura Purdin calmly pouring HCL down the sink in order to clear out the drains they had just stopped up with copper shavings. Don Greenlee was trying to explain to Mr. Watts that he had exploded a beaker trying to make syrup for the pancakes Elaine Burkhart was cooking with a Bunsen burner. About this time I decided I had better make tracks if I wanted to keep my appetite.

As I started to descend the stairs I heard a muffled mumble and, stopping to investigate, found Bev Southward giving her speech on "Archaeology and What It Means to You" or "Don't Laugh —You'll look that way in Five Hundred Years." Betty Stonerock, Carol McCain, Martha Peters, and Leah Pettit were listening intently, adding their constructive remarks. Thinking it a shame to disturb such a studious group, I slipped silently down the stairs.

Whoops! There goes the noon bell. Every man, or rather tiger, for himself. Here comes Tom Peters on his way to the dairy for his daily quart of milk. Following closely behind were Milt Housman, Ronnie Buskirk, Dave Edgington, Bill Glitt, and Nick Smalley, yelling that the last one to the "Snack Shack" had to pay the bill.

Just then Barb Barthelmas came careening down the stair shouting that she had left her horn at home. Marlane Kerr attempted to console her but they both decided they had better get it before band period . . . so off they went.

Lunch hour was almost over but Joe Smith and Phil Wantz were still arguing with "Blimp" Styers and Elliott Hawkes over air force bases in civics class. I knew it was impossible to calm them, so I continued down the hall.

At the head of the Corwin Street stairs I found Mary Cassidy and Avanell Thomas composing a new cheer, with Margie Oltman urging them on.

A little further on, Dorothy Chaffin was addressing anyone who would listen, about the blessings of drivers' training. Some fellow buddies, Jill Moats, Barb Binkley, Chris Weldon, and Jim Fausnaugh, were listening intently but Barb Hoffman was sitting on the floor composing a note in pig-latin to Janet Eccard. Deciding that the entire group was a little off, I stepped into the study hall for a rest.

There I found another argument in progress with "Fletch" Fletcher, George Johnson, and "Dud" Thomas in a deep discussion over who was the best ping pong player of the three. Over by the windows, Ken Williams and Larry Wing were throwing spit-balls on passers-by below. Jim Palm and Ray McFee had just been hit and were about to return the favor with mud pies when Mrs. Boggs came to the rescue. In a scholarly mood, Carol Gibbs and Lawrence Garner were working on civics reports.

Following my rest, I took a quick trip to the gym to watch Phyllis Cupp's aerial act in action. I arrived just in time to find Bev Lutz in hysterics. Max Walker had just slammed the bleachers shut with her on them. Bev finally composed herself when Dona Sark and Nancy Arledge joined the group. From across the gym we heard the strains of the band with Harry Griest sounding some flat notes as usual. Paul Allison and Bob Scranton had a short race to see who would close the door first. But by the time they returned, everyone had left . . . including me.

On the way back to third floor, I passed Sue Mowery headed for the Wayne township bus and Shirley Ward headed for the home restaurant.

Yes, the final bell had rung. I said a fond farewell to Jane Wallace, "Clara" Neff, Diane Mason, "Uckie" Stocklen and several other dirty, dirty birds. I heard the chugging of engines as "Lazy-Jaws" Lamb and Jim Arledge roared off in a drag race.

The Senior hall was empty now. They're gone for good and all I have now are my memories. Good-bye to the class of '55.

Sophomores Have Active Year

During the past year the Class of '57 has made a good name for itself in the many school activities and sports. This year memberships in the school clubs — Stooge, E. M. S., G. A. A., Hi-Y, and Jr. S. O. S.—were all open to them.

Many sophomore boys took part in football. On the varsity squad were Dick Banks and Eddie Tomlinson. The reserve squad included David Carpenter, Wendell Emerine, Roger Magill, Bob McClure, Clifford Stewart, Ronald Straight, Ronald Strucker, and T. D. Van Camp. Ellis Couch and Jim Hoover were managers.

In the music department our class has had many representatives throughout the band, choir, orchestra, and sextette. Among the sophomores who participated in these activities were Anne Adkins, Carolyn Bell, Beverly Brink, Carolyn Ferguson, Nella Fowler, Judy Grooms, Gwynne Jenkins, Carol Johnson, Edith Jones, Patty McAbee, Carl Porter, Nola Rader, Patsy Smith, Joann Spice, Delores Valentine, and Elaine Woodward. Susan Stocklen was one of the high stepping majorettes and Sandra Van Fossen was a flag-bearer. Two sophomore girls, Patsy Smith and Elaine Woodward, were members of the Girls' Sextette.

Freshmen Have A Good Beginning

Our freshman students have adapted themselves quite rapidly to their new life in high school. They have taken an interested part in many activities such as band, G. A. A., Junior S. O. S., mixed chorus, orchestra, and sextet.

On our reserve cheerleading squad we saw Billie Sue Johnson and Toni Merriman.

In our marching band there were many freshmen including Marilyn Barthelmas as one of our majorettes and Mary Ann Edstrom as one of our flag bearers.

To you, the class of 1958, we wish a lot of success!

Physical Education Building

February 5, 1955, marked the first anniversary of the dedication of the Circleville High School Physical Education Building.

There are 19,782 square feet of floor space, with the regulation high school playing floor —84 feet long and 50 feet wide.

Seating capacity is approximately 2,000 with balcony floors providing ample space for various other forms of activities.

The building is used for the following purposes: physical education classes for both boys and girls, extra-curricular programs which include intramural basketball, inter-scholastic basketball, and hygiene classes for both boys and girls.

In addition to the gymnasium part of the building, there is a band and music room, instructor's room, an equipment room, and two practice rooms.

In order to preserve the floor, the Junior-Senior Prom is the only dance permitted with street shoes. All other dances are limited to sock hops.

Because the auditorium is inadequate in seating capacity, commencement exercises are in the gym.

"The purpose of this club shall be to enrich the lives of its members through fellowship, service, and the everyday living of religious principles."

In order to maintain funds for the year's activities, the club maintained a refreshment booth at each home football game, and held several bake sales during the year.

Various projects for the year included giving a Thanksgiving and Christmas basket to a needy family, and taking part in the underprivileged children's Christmas party. An electric roaster was purchased for use in the booth.

One of the big social events of the year, to which each girl looked forward, was the annual "Sweetheart Dance".

Carry my books to study hall! Bow down three times! Scrub those steps clean! These are just three of the many commands the initiates carried out on initiation day as Junior S. O. S. started another busy year under the guidance of Mrs. Miriam Young.

Ushering in the football season, the girls sold football pencils, had charge of Parents' Night, and sponsored a dance after the Wilmington game.

During the Christmas season they enjoyed a caroling party climaxed by a gathering at the Goldschmidt home. They also participated in the annual party for little folk and contributed generously to the Tuberculosis and Polio Funds.

Junior S. O. S.'s biggest and most important project this year was sending a committee each month to the Home and Hospital where the girls presented a program.

The group ended a successful year with their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet in May.

Any boy with a "C" average or better and in grades 10 through 12 is eligible for membership in the Hi-Y Club. This club is the "branch" organization of the National Hi-Y Organization in Circleville High School.

Purpose of the Hi-Y Club is "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the high school and community high standards of Christian character, clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean scholarship, and clean living."

This year the club took part in many activities around school. Some of the activities were a football dance; a basketball dance; attending church as an organization once a month; presentation of a Thanksgiving program; lectures, and movies. The year's activities were climaxed with the Hi-Y Banquet on May 6.

As the Christian representation here in Circleville High School the Hi-Y Club looks forward to every coming year as a further and more challenging reason for Christian service by high school boys.

Epsilon Mu Sigma or English Merit Society is an organization of honor students—sophomores, juniors, and seniors with a 3.5 average in English the previous semester. A record-breaking membership of 50 students constitute the club this year, thus proving that the one requirement is not unobtainable.

E. M. S. meets every other Monday evening during the school year. The program committee for each meeting always provides an interesting program.

Hi Notes, a school paper contributed to by each member, has been published each month. The willingness of each member to work, the pertinent covers emanating from Jane Wallace, and the helpful directions from the editor, Judy Hurst, probably account for its popularity.

The annual assembly for the student body was presented in February. It was dedicated to note-worthy Americans.

An outside trip to a historical place or suitable play marks the climax of the year.

A tea given for the parents of the members concludes the year. It is at this time that the new officers are announced.

Under the direction of the informal and capable adviser, Mrs. Clark Will, the club is an asset to the school.

To develop a universal feeling of sportsmanship through the media of girls' athletics, to increase our knowledge of sports and their terms, and to provide an opportunity for physical, mental, and social development, such are the aims of the Girls' Athletic Association founded in November 1951.

Thirty-five members of the G. A. A. plus the cheerleaders, who are honorary members, have been working hard since the beginning of school to organize and sponsor the cheering section, which has helped to boost the enthusiasm in sports. Besides preparing a basket of food for a needy family at Thanksgiving and Christmas time, the G. A. A. sponsors intramurals, which are open to all students taking physical education. They enjoyed a camping trip in the spring of the year. Some of their other projects have been to sell football pins and penants, to sponsor dances at school and to have a Christmas party and a bake sale.

Girls' Athletic Association helps to further cooperation among the club's members and the students of the school.

Aim of the group is to stimulate interest in photography—not only in taking pictures but also in developing and enlarging.

Junior Class Play

On the nights of November 18 and 19 the Junior class presented the play, Night of January 16th, concerning the murder of Bjorn Faulkner.

Excitement ran high as the cast sat in the makeup room rehearsing lines and actions and hoping that on stage nothing would go wrong.

When the lights were blinked the secretaries (Judy Hurst and Nancy Ankron) along with Clerk of the Court (Marilyn Evans) took their places on stage.

Defense Attorney Stevens (Larry Gordon) and District Attorney Flint (Walter Sieverts) were next to enter and take their places beside their secretaries.

The bailiff (Dick Greeno) entered and called for court attention. Sammy Ritter entered portraying the Honorable Judge Heath.

Then the action began. Defense Attorney Stevens called witnesses for the accused, starting with John Schraub as Dr. Kirkland. Private Detective, Homer Van Fleet (Tom Vaughn), Patrolman, Elmer Sweeney (Jerry Johnson), handwriting expert, Jane Chandler (Carol Bass), Mrs. John Hutchins (Linda Dresbach), and the maid for the murdered man, Magda Svenson (Juliann Smith) were each called to the witness stand by Stevens and cross-examined by District Attorney Flint.

The entrance of Nancy Lee Faulkner, wife of the murdered man, played by Beverly Runyon, and her father, John Graham Whitfield (Richard Alkire), caused more excitement and mystery.

Marsha Morgan, as the night club dancer Roberta Van Rennsselaer, was a riot as she twisted down the aisle flirting with all the men.

Gangster Larry Regan (Bill Purdin) put a new light on the case when it was discovered he was in love with Karen Andre, and was accused of murdering Bjorn Faulkner.

Sigurd Jungquist, (Roger Southward) trusted friend of Mr. Faulkner and ex-convict, startled the audience by accusing John Graham Whitfield of the murder.

When the jury, which was chosen from the audience at the beginning of the play, retired to reach a verdict, everyone sat on the edge of their seat.

Both nights Karen Andre was pronounced "NOT GUILTY".

Senior Class Play

"THE GREAT BIG DOORSTEP"

The orchestra, under the direction of Truman Eberly, has just finished playing "This Ole' House". As the curtain was drawn open, four characters were thinking about their lines.

Gail Dunlap, as Evvie, and Bev Elsea, as Topal, were busy with their deeds as Patsy Neff and Margie Magill, ten-year-old twins, were playing with their dolls under the tree. The play continued on and shortly after, the audience was introduced to Mr. and Mrs. Crochet, played by Robert Lamb and Diane Mason. Arthur, played by Joe Smith, was thrown out of his home because Mr. Crochet, his father, found his dogs lying on his bed. Arthur is quite a problem child, but he did find a set of door-steps floating down the Mississippi River, which introduces us to the plot of the play.

Mr. Crochet wants to build a house to go with these door-steps only he can't seem to find enough money. It seems that Mrs. Dupre, the land-lady of this lot, has different ideas and Lura Purdin, who is Mrs. Dupre, presents quite a problem. Everything appears rather depressing until Uncle Dewey, or Kenny Williams, lights up in their heads. It also is evident that Dewey has a steady job and a little money. After getting the money from Dewey, it turns out to be counterfeit and the family is back where they started.

Meanwhile Evvie and Topal have their love problems with Tayo, Jim Palm, and Tobin, Ray McFee. This little big adds to the humor of the play. But, Hold On! The play is not finished yet! Avanell Thomas comes in to save the day and the play. She portrays the florist, who wants to buy the lilies that Mrs. Crochet has grown in her back yard. This gives the family enough money and they finally get a new house to go with "The Great Big Doorstep." We give credit to Jane Wallace, our student director, The Production Staff, and Mrs. Pruden, the director, for such a fine play.

Varsity Football

1954 Tiger football squad squeezed out a season record of two wins and six losses. This is, by far, the poorest record that the Tigers have compiled in many a season. This year they missed the S. C. O. L. by a mere touchdown. It was due to the loss of the traditional Washington C. H. game by a score of 6-0. No doubt this year's season record was due to the lack of experience on the most part, as there were very few seniors on the squad. Next year's returning lettermen will be about twenty-five as compared to this year's five.

Losing the first two games, the Tigers got off to a bad start. The first of these defeats went to Athens when they won by a score of 26-6, and the next to the powerful Linden-McKinley eleven when they handed the local team a 33-18 defeat.

Loss of these games, however, did not necessarily point to a bad season since the boys knew that they were short on experience and had to have more game practice. We found out later on in the season that they just did not have it.

Although the first two games proved to be disappointments to the Tigers, the next two proved to be thrillers. The next two games were both S. C. O. L. games at home. The first victory that the Tigers boasted was over the Wilmington Hurricanes by a 13-0 score.

Next Friday the Tigers played host to the Hillsboro Indians and bowled them over by a score of 34-0, which put them into first place in the S. C. O. L.

St. Charles of Columbus was the next team they met on their home ground. This was the Homecoming game and the Circleville-St. Charles rivalry was resumed. A Circleville team has never defeated the capitol city boys. This year was no exception, for the score board read, "Visitors 20", C. H. S. 19", at the game's end.

The next game was with the Greenfield McClain squad. The loss of this game by a score of 35-7 resulted in the Tiger's dropping from undisputed first place to a tie for first. This was a four-way tie.

Delaware was the next foe of the Red and Black. The end result of this contest was the Roundtowners' coming out on the short end of a 20-0 score.

Final game of the season was November 14, when we again confronted the Blue Lions from Washington C. H. This year proved to be no exception to the fierce rivalry which has always accompanied this game. After a tough stand on the part of the Tigers they went under by a 6-0 score, thus losing the S. C. O. L.

And so ended the 1954 season. It seemed that the boys could not break the jinx that apparently followed them. But — watch out next year!

Reserve Football

This year's Reserve Kittens had, in our opinion, a marvelous record ending their season with six wins, one loss, and one tie. They won the championship among the reserve teams in the S. C. O. L.

They had a hard hitting offense that was sparked by some beautiful runs. They had a good line and a brilliant defense, which were responsible for the success of this year's team.

Under the guidance of the Reserve Coaches, Richard Boyd and Art Thompson, the boys showed that they had that "ole" desire to go out and win. They had the determination to follow through a tough training period and game schedule.

Varsity Basketball

Although the varsity basketball team was short on height this year they played considerably good basketball.

The team was victorious over Hillsboro on the home court. After a three minute overtime the score was still tied 67 to 67. After a furious sudden death play off, one of the boys was fortunate, in a way, to get fouled. The boy, Ed Tomlinson, made both of the fouls, winning the ball game.

Over the Christmas holidays the boys and coach Mr. William "Red" Courtney, were invited to the Hamilton Invitation Tournament in Cincinnati. They lost first to Lockland Wayne and then to Old Woodward. Both of these teams are rated high throughout the state. Lockland Wayne boys were on the all-state team last year. Circleville gave them a lot of competition.

All through the season the boys seemed not to get that one spark to pull ahead to win. They lost most of the games by only a few points.

This year, according to all reports, the C. H. S. cagers lacked experience as well as height. The first string included four juniors and a sophomore, all of whom expect to be out for basketball, come next November.

1st Row: E. Tomlinson, B. Wellington, Mr. Courtney, D. Strawser, B. Schneider.
2nd Row: M. Davis, R. Jones, J. Curry, W. Sieverts, J. Callihan, E. Martin.

Golf

Dig that crazy golf team! This phrase would immediately enter your mind if you were driving past the Pickaway County Country Club and saw the Circleville High School golf team practicing. Five boys and Diane Mason comprise the team.

Suppose one of the boys were two feet away from the eighteenth hole and this short putt would put him one stroke ahead of his teammates. If by accident he misses the putt, think of all the nasty words roaming through his mind, he must hold back because a girl is present.

Maybe Diane does keep the boys in line but we are very proud of her because she is the first girl, in the history of our school, to be on the golf team.

Of course, there are five other pros?? on the team; Paul Allison, Ronald Buskirk, Larry Gordon, David Styers, and Phil Wantz. Yet this team would not be complete without the assistance and guidance of their coach, Mr. Brudzinski.

Reserve Basketball

Reserve cagers this year have had a pretty good season, winning 8 and losing 10 games.

In their class competition the boys seem to be the right height but have been slow getting the ball back down the floor.

Among reserve teams in the South Central Ohio League the C. H. S. boys have held on firmly to second place which is a very good rating.

Outside of the league the team played Bexley and Central who were the leading contenders in the Central Buckeye League. They lost both of these games by a very small margin. We were proud of the team for defeating Marion Franklin, the leading team in their league.

Mr. Richard Boyd is the coach, while Mike Davis is head manager, assisted by John Lewis, Eddie Martin and George Myers.

Track

Mr. Tom Bennett is our head track coach this year. Mr. William Courtney is our coach for the weights.

The track team this year has only three returning lettermen, Dick Phebus, Jay Curry, and George Phifer.

In spite of this handicap we have a good bit of optimism about our track team. We have seventeen new prospects this season. These new boys are: Seniors—Rufus Fletcher, George Johnson, and Jim Arledge; Juniors — Robert Edgington, Don Garrett, Jim Lewis, and Jim McConnell; Sophomores—Don McClarren, Clifford Stewart, Ron Stucker, and George Weffler; Freshmen—Charles Brooks, Fred Garner, William Johnson, Gary Phifer, George Tester, and Charles Thomas. This year the track team has a new manager, Eddie Martin, a Junior.

Baseball

Coach Dick Boyd shows considerable optimism as to what the 1955 baseball team will do. The team showed up well in the Summer Baseball League, coming up with second place.

Heaviest hitters last summer were Tomlinson, Banks, and Hosler. Those who showed up most in the pitchers spot were Jim McConnell, Jim Callihan, Walt Sieverts, and Mike Hosler.

The same peculiar situation confronts the baseball team as faced the basketball team this past season. Not one senior went out for either sport!!

This leads us to believe that next year's team will be exceptional because we will have the same varsity squad.

Probable starting lineup is:

Ralph Jones, c; Jim McConnell, p; Walt Sieverts, 1st; Jim Callihan, 2nd; Bob Wellington, ss; Mike Hosler, 3rd; Ed Tomlinson, cf; Dick Banks, lf; Mike Davis or Bob Callihan, rf.

According to all indications, this year's team will be the best one in three years and should be the one to bring home the S. C. O. L. championship.

Homecoming

Patsy Neff, Mary Jo Smith, Katherine Fowler.

The pretty, blonde blue-eyed junior who reigned as Homecoming Queen this year was Mary Jo Smith. The two attractive attendants to the queen were Patsy Neff, a senior, and Katherine Fowler, a junior. These three girls were nominated by the football team and then were presented to the student body for election. Hats off to the splendid and lovely royalty of Circleville High School!

Band

On August 23, 1954, Mr. Truman Eberly called sixty old members and welcomed sixteen new members to the first band rehearsal. Following this first practice it was very evident that much work would be needed to ready the band for the coming year, particularly for the strenuous activities during the autumn months.

However, when they made their first appearance at the Band Preview, the fans all agreed that Mr. Eberly had again come up with a fine organization.

In addition to being a big attraction at all the home football games, the music-makers also accompanied the gridders to Wilmington and Washington C. H.

Two of Ohio's outstanding street shows had the pleasure of witnessing the band in action. They marched in five parades and gave a concert during the Pumpkin Show and marched in two parades at the Jackson Apple Festival.

This year for the first time, the band traveled to Lockbourne to participate in a Youth's Day. While there they played a concert and then enjoyed all the demonstrations and activities that were planned for their enjoyment.

In the winter the Band Mothers sponsored a round and square dance. Everyone present had a wonderful time and would like to offer a vote of thanks to the Band Mothers for providing the entertainment and recreation.

During the course of the year the band added two Scotch drums and two basses which were very badly needed.

The Band officers for the '54-'55 season were as follows: president, Bob Wellington; vice president, Margie Magill; secretary, Sandy McAlister; treasurer, Diane Mason; librarians, Elizabeth Musser and Nola Rader.

The Mixed Chorus

For those students of the high school who are sincerely fond of vocalizing, the mixed chorus affords pleasurable group singing and relaxation.

However, the 95 members of the choir under direction of Mr. Truman Eberly must practice diligently in preparation for each performance.

In addition to the regular Annual Vesper Service, this year a selected group of 19 members presented the program for the Circleville P. T. A. and the Monday Club. The highlight of this Christmas presentation was a Christmas Cantata, "In David's Town," based on Latin-American carols.

The group attended the Lutheran Church on March 23, and participated in the services by rendering some hymns.

Girls' Sextet

Walking by the music rooms on a Wednesday afternoon one is likely to hear the sweet musical sound of feminine voices. This is the Circleville High School Girls' Sextet.

Chosen annually by Mr. Truman Eberly the six girls sing for various organizations and high school assemblies. They also take part in the annual state adjudications which were at Capitol University this year.

Patsy Smith, Elaine Woodward, Weta Mae Leist, Judy Hurst, Marsha Morgan, Lois Wittich. Accompanist, Barbara Samuel.

The Circleville High School orchestra is now in its thirty-seventh year. This year it was under the direction of Mr. Truman Eberly.

The orchestra, which practices in the band room every Tuesday and Thursday during the eighth period, has worked on a large amount of music during this year. Some of this is: Merry Widow Waltz, Syncopated Clock, Star Dust, Two Guitars, Serenade from the Student Prince, South American Overture, and Snow White Fantasy.

The orchestra played during the intermission of the Senior Class play and appeared on the program at the Spring Festival. It ended the year by playing for the Commencement exercises in May.
